JUNE 2021 NEWSLETTER

PRODUCT NEWS

African American Studies
This Oxford product contains 20,000 scholarly articles, 2500 images, 700 primary sources, 15,000 biographies, and more. More info.

PRODUCT NEWS

EBSCO Mental Measurements Yearbook
The CC offers versions with and without Test in Print. Pricing is based on number of simultaneous users. More info.

NEWS

CUP Big Deal
Cambridge has improved their mechanism for alerting a library when a campus faculty member has an OA-eligible manuscript accepted by a CUP journal.

FEATURED - RAPID ILL

Rapid is designed to ensure that your library only receives ILL requests for journal volumes that you hold and that can be loaned. Rapid also checks to see if requested articles are already available via open access. When requests arrive at your library, they already have your local call number and location. From a patron point of view, the process is completely automated and appears unmediated. All this results in an average turnaround time of less than 12 hours and a fill rate of 95%.

Contact Dawn Zehner (mailto:Dawn.Zehner@proquest.com) for pricing, demos, and questions.

FEATURED - ARTICLE GALAXY SCHOLAR

This commercial article delivery service can be set up as either mediated or unmediated. Any requests are automatically checked for the availability of OA. There are many, many options for allowing students and faculty to order from certain journals or to impose cost limits on orders. AGS can be integrated with link resolver and discovery systems. The current CC offer is good through October 1, 2021.

Contact Maria Hatfield (mhatfield@reprintsdesk.com) for pricing, demos, and questions.

Questions? Contact: bucknall@uncg.edu
https://library.uncg.edu/carolinaconsortium/
CC Library Spotlight - CORRIHER-LINN-BLACK LIBRARY

Located in Salisbury, NC, Catawba College was founded in 1851. Catawba has a 12:1 student ratio and was recently identified as one of the top 10 colleges in the South.

Website

Events

The CC is sponsoring a 10 week series of 30 minute vendor webinars and demos.

On June 23rd we will begin our monthly discussion of topics of mutual interest to CC libraries. The first two sessions will address usage stats and decision-making. For a current list of events, see:

CC Events Web Page

The CC offers deals for a variety of services, including pay-per-view, ILL, discovery, subscription services, link resolvers, statistics aggregators, LMS plug ins, and more.

Upcoming Renewals and Expirations

Many EBSCO database renews expire Sept 30th. We should have the renewal pricing by the end of June.

For pricing and other details see the CC Box account.

Trials are available for most CC products
CC NEWS AND UPDATES

The initial membership of the Carolina Consortium Advisory Group will include:

Joseph Thomas (East Carolina University)
Carol Cramer (Wake Forest University)
Carol Keck (Guilford Tech Community College)
Christee Pascale (University of SC)
Jean Gudenas (Medical Univ of SC)

At the first meeting of the group, we will be discussing whether to expand or change the membership and whether we should add ex officio members. We will also be discussing the timetable and process for replacing members as their terms expire.

NEED MORE CAROLINA CONSORTIUM INFO?

This newsletter does not contain confidential details like CC pricing, inflation rates, or usage stats for individual schools. For that reason, it is fine to share this newsletter with colleagues within or outside the CC.

CC members can request access to the CC’s detailed confidential information by sending an email request to bucknall@uncg.edu

If any CC library staff member would like to join the CC listserv and get more frequent and detailed updates via email, please email a request to bucknall@uncg.edu