Part 1 - Talking Points and Institutional Effectiveness Summary

The University Libraries completed the design and implementation of our Mobile Web Site. The mobile web site is the only device-enabled web presence on the UNCG campus, and it is already one of the campus’ top 50 destinations.  (SA3, G3.6), Value: Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: staff

The University Libraries digitized seven major collections (Schiffman/Wellesz, University Yearbook Collections, Greensboro Patriot newspaper, Greensboro City Directories, The Carolinian, State Normal Magazine/Coraddi, Alumnae News/Alumni News). Significant progress toward an overall University History Portal has been made.  (SA3, G3.6), Values: Collaboration, Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Research, Resources provided: staff, equipment

The renovation, designed by Lambert Architecture and Interiors and implemented by Shelco Construction, will be complete the summer of 2011. This will allow Special Collections and University Archives to expand into the third floor of Jackson Library as well as provide better use of space for the department on the second floor. This renovation was needed because of the huge growth in manuscripts and archives over the years.  (SA3, G3.1), Value: Responsibility, Audience: External and Internal, Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: space, funds

The University Libraries expanded outreach with the Living Learning Communities initiative as library liaisons were appointed to all LLCs. Collaboration with the Warren Ashby Residential College, Lloyd International Honors College, Grogan and Reynold’s First-Year Experience was enhanced.  (SA3, G3.3), Values: Collaboration, Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Teaching, Resources provided: staff

Instructional and entertainment DVDs (9,945) and VHS tapes (5,653) were transferred to the University Libraries from the University Teaching and Learning Center. These materials were processed and access policies were created as the Libraries have now taken on the responsibility for collecting, maintaining and servicing media for the curriculum.  (SA3, G3.1), Value: Responsibility, Audience: External and Internal, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Teaching, Resources provided: staff, space

The University Libraries adopted the LibGuides system in the summer of 2010 and all research guides were revised consisting of over 70 subject guides incorporating hundreds of web pages of student oriented subject specific research assistance. Additional topical and multipurpose guides were also developed, including guides on bullying, copyright, citations, EndNote citation management and others. As of May 2011, there have been 320,652 hits on LibGuides.  (SA3, G3.1), Values: Responsibility, Inclusiveness, Audience: External and internal, Areas of Responsibility: Teaching, Resources provided: staff
The University Libraries expanded our technology lending program to include iPads, camcorders, voice recorders and graphing calculators. (SA3, G3.1), Value: Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: equipment, funds

Similar to the university-wide promotion and tenure recognition program, the University Libraries started an initiative to honor recent faculty publications through a blog, a display in the Elliott University Center, special notes in our online catalog, book plates and a very special recognition event. (SA4, G4.3), Values: Collaboration, Responsibility, Audience: External and internal, Responsibility: Teaching, Resources provided: staff, funds

The University Libraries collaborated with the Wake Forest University Libraries to provide the second Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians in March 2011, which drew an international audience of over 100 librarians and included acclaimed keynote speakers. (SA4, G4.2), Values: Collaboration, Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: staff

A successful collaboration between the Writing Center and the University Libraries took place in the fall and spring semesters to offer late night assistance to students during exam periods. (SA3, G3.1), Values: Collaboration, Responsibility, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Teaching, Resources provided: funds, staff

The University Libraries processed materials from the Chemistry Reading Room in order to repurpose that space in the Sullivan Sciences Building to allow more room for faculty offices. (SA3, G3.1), Value: Responsibility, Audience: External and Internal, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: staff, space

The University Libraries finalized procedures on the best way to easily place records in our online catalog for e-books, streaming media, streaming audio and online scores. Over 19,500 e-books, 3,300 e-journals, 4,800 streaming audio, 8,545 streaming video and 1,696 online music scores were made available to students and faculty. (SA3, G3.6), Values: Responsibility, Sustainability, Audience: External and internal, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: staff

Our Institutional Repository, NC DOCKS, continued to grow with over 200 faculty members having contributed over 3,000 works. In addition, we began offering support for faculty publication of online journals through the use of Open Journal Systems. (SA4, G4.3), Values: Responsibility, Sustainability, Audience: External and internal, Areas of Responsibility: Research, Resources provided: staff, equipment

The University Libraries became members of BioMed, the Coalition for Networked Information, The Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition (SPARC) and the OCLC Research Library Partnership, demonstrating our commitment to support the open access movement in the library field and faculty research at UNCG. (SA3, G3.1), Values: Responsibility, Collaboration, Audience: External and Internal, Areas of Responsibility: Research, Resources provided: funds

The University Libraries hosted international library visitors from the Free International University of Chisinau, Republic of Moldova, the Shanghai University of Finance and Economics and Tongji University in Shanghai. These librarians met with the library faculty and staff, had library tours, gave presentations on their research projects and learned about the way we operate as a university library in the United States. (SA5, G5.1), Values: Responsibility, Inclusiveness, Audience: External and Internal, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Teaching, Resources provided: staff, space

The University Libraries once again presented a successful storyteller (Tim Tingle) in collaboration with the School of Education. Other speakers such as Lee Smith and Hal Crowther highlighted our annual Friends of the UNCG Libraries annual dinner. We were also very fortunate to have hosted Peter Yarrow, Randall Kenan, Brent

The University Libraries established a category of giving titled the Jackson Society. This academic year we received thirty memberships in this category of giving, including our first student donor in this category. We also received two large bequests, both from anonymous donors, totaling over $900,000. (SA4, G4.2), Values: Responsibility, Collaboration, Audience: External, Areas of Responsibility: Service, Resources provided: staff

Faculty Significant Achievements 2010-2011

Rosann Bazirjian
Rosann Bazirjian served as the pre-conference organizer and facilitator for the ALCTS Midwinter Symposium titled “The Administrator, RDA and the Future Catalog: Issues, Viewpoints, and Alternatives, in San Diego on January 6, 2011. She also served as the Chair of the ALCTS President’s Program and introduced Dr. Paul Courant at ALA Annual in June, 2011. For the American Library Association, Rosann currently serves on the International Relations Committee; European Subcommittee, the Bogle-Pratt Award Subcommittee of the IRC, and the ALA Memberships Meeting Committee. She serves as a Reader on the LLAMA Library Leadership and Management Competencies Task Force. Rosann is an elected member of the SPARC Steering Committee (2010-2013), and an OCLC Global Council Delegate (2010-2013). She served on the Global Council Cost Sharing Models Task Force, 2010-2011. Rosann gave a presentation in October 2010 titled “The Academic Libraries Moldova Partnership: Importance of the Connection” to the Greensboro Jewish Federation and at the North Carolina/Moldova Partnership meeting in Raleigh, NC in November, 2010. Along with Kathy Crowe, Jenny Dale and Mary Hummel, she had a chapter accepted for publication (“Living, Learning and Libraries: A Cross-Campus Collaboration”) in Environments for Student Growth and Development: Libraries and Student Affairs in Collaboration, to be published by ACRL.

Beth Bernhardt
Beth Bernhardt was the Program Chair for the 2010 Charleston Conference and the Co-Editor of the Charleston Conference Proceedings. She also gave two presentations at ALA Midwinter in San Diego, CA on “Discovery Services”. Beth also presented twice at the Oxford University Press Journals Days Event. She spoke at the Charleston Conference and at the Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians. Beth is on four national advisory boards and the current chair of an ALA-ALCTS CRS interest group. Beth was also the Secretary for the UNCG Faculty Senate.

Agnes Kathy Bradshaw
Kathy Bradshaw served on the University Benefits Committee and is the Affirmative Action Officer for University Libraries. She is a member of the Libraries’ Administrative Advisory Group. She also served a reviewer for the UNCG Merit Awards Panel. She presented “How to Revamp Your Resume in 45 Minutes” at the North Carolina Paraprofessional Conference at East Carolina University in Greenville as well as “Professional Research Tools for Non-Profits: 3 Essential Resources (and they are all FREE)” at the Tech4Good Conference held in Chapel Hill. Kathy presented “How Not to Get Hired” at the first student conference “Unhushed” hosted by the graduate students of the Library and Information Studies Program, UNCG (LIS) and served as a resume reviewer for the LIS Career Fair. Kathy is chair of the University Libraries Service Award committee, co-chair of the Libraries’ Diversity
Committee and is a member of the Staff Development Committee and the Planning Committee for the international visiting librarians. As part of the Diversity Committee, Kathy coordinated abbreviated Safe Zone training for library supervisors and employees. She also completed the full Safe Zone training. She is a member of the American Library Association’s Library Leadership and Management Association (LLAMA) Staff Development Committee. In her role as Human Resources Librarian, Kathy sat on search committees for the Metadata Cataloger and University Archivist, and assisted with the staff repurposing project by rewriting job descriptions. She has also managed human resources issues such as employee relations concerns, employee benefits questions and disciplinary actions. Kathy attained the Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR) designation from the Human Resources Certification Institute (HRCI.) She was featured in the “Member Spotlight” section of the Triangle Society of Human Resources Newsletter.

Terry Brandsma
Terry Brandsma presented “Implementing EBSCO Discovery Service: Pitfalls, Sidetracks, Successes, and Lessons Learned” and moderated the “Systems Administration (Windows) Sharing Session” at the international COSUGI 2011 Annual Conference, April 2011, in Phoenix, AZ. This conference is for the user community and the staff of the SirsiDynix Integrated Library System software. He continued to serve on the Libraries Systems Advisory Committee and Space Planning Committee, and on the UNC-wide Automation & Networking Committee, comprised of the systems librarians from the 17 UNC campuses. Among the projects he completed this year were the implementation and configuration of the EBSCO Discovery Service (EDS), including being the first world-wide to automate the process to upload new and modified records from a library system to EDS. This service integrates our local print collections, our electronic collections, and our journal article collections into one meta-database accessible through a single, simple search interface. Terry also worked extensively with the Media Studies Department equipment loan program to bring them into our library system so that they could effectively reserve, circulate and keep track of their media equipment as it was being used by faculty and students for course projects. By collaborating with the Libraries, the Media Studies Department saved approximately $10,000 per year in hardware and software costs. Terry also worked with Information Technology Services to develop specifications, test and implement a new Banner library user data extract for import into the library system. The extract now occurs automatically and updates library user records each day. His library catalog improvements include implementing on-campus item delivery links for faculty, creating mobile My Account pages for viewing and renewing library items, and creating library catalog search snippets for use within LibGuides. Terry also completed the UNCG Essential Supervisors Program offered by Human Resource Services.

Tim Bucknall
Tim Bucknall wrote an article, co-authored a book, and delivered eleven conference presentations. He serves on the Librarians Council of NC LIVE and assisted the group with the selection of new products. Tim also continues to lead the Carolina Consortium, which has grown to 140 institutions collectively participating in over 1000 deals.

Mary Jane Conger
Mary Jane Conger with Anne Marie Taber published an article in Cataloging and Classification Quarterly: “Relevance Recognized: Value-added Cataloging for Departmental and Digital Collections”. Mary Jane and Christine Fischer presented a session on “Repurposing: New Activities for Established Staff or What You do Today May Not be what you do Tomorrow” at the North Carolina Serials Conference. She supervised three practicum students in the LIS program. After their practicum was over, all three graduate students volunteered their time in cataloging. In addition, Mary Jane was interviewed on three separate occasions by LIS students. With Mac Nelson, she taught a total of five sessions of LIS 640: Organizing Library Collections, introducing students to MARC records, AACR2 and Library of Congress Classification, three sessions in the fall and two in the spring. Mary Jane was very active on the Libraries’ Peer Evaluation and Tenure Committee, including producing the first draft of the Libraries’ document for procedures for reappointment and tenure to reflect the major changes in the master campus document.
Richard Cox
Richard Cox completed the migration of the University Libraries into an ASP.NET framework, maintained and supported by the ERIT development team, which has allowed for the addition of several new pieces of functionality that otherwise would have been undoable such as the new Help & Tutorials Application. Richard directed and designed the expansion of the successful Blackboard research portal into a mobile environment, resulting in hundreds more uses. Richard designed and developed the Libraries' new mobile web site, the only device-enabled web presence on the UNCG campus, and already one of our top destinations (#44). With Danny Nanez, Richard completed a port of the Reservations Scheduler into a simpler, more streamlined mobile interface that interacts via QR Codes. Richard is actively participating in two grant-funded projects with University professors, and has also administered the addition of eight Journals in the OJS system.

Kathryn Crowe
Kathryn Crowe published “Student Affairs Connection: Promoting the Library through Co-Curricular Activities” in Collaborative Librarianship. She presented “Assessment = Improved Teaching and Learning: Using Rubrics to Measure Information Literacy Skills” at the ARL Effective Sustainable Practical Assessment for Libraries and “Sharing the Wealth: Creating Cross-Campus Responsibility for Information Literacy” at the Metrolina Library Association Information Literacy Conference (with Amy Harris). She served as chair of the ACRL Heads of Public Services Discussion Group and co-chair of ALA LAMA MAES Using Measurement Data for Library Planning and Assessment Committee. She also participated in ALA LLAMA’s Mentoring Program as a mentor and on the planning committee for The Entrepreneurial Conference for Librarians: From Vision to Implementation. On campus she co-chaired the Information Literacy Council with Amy Harris and served on the 3.6 Strategic Plan Implementation Team and the Sally and Alan Cone Fund Committee. Kathryn served on the team that conducted a mystery shopper assessment and also on the team that developed customer service workshops for all Libraries staff. She also worked on revising the Libraries’ Strategic Plan to enter it into Compliance Assist, UNCG’s Assessment Management System.

Anna Craft
Anna Craft began serving as the Metadata Cataloger in April 2011. In addition to beginning her work on projects in Cataloging, Digital Projects, and Hodges Special Collections & University Archives, she has authored a column for Serials Review (“Southern Highland Craft Guild”) and attended the Southeastern CONTENTdm Users Group conference in Charleston, SC and the NC SirsiDynix Users Group meeting in Greensboro.

Steve Cramer
Steve Cramer continued to co-teach MKT 426, International Marketing, considered by Bryan School Administration to be the most significant economic development class at UNCG. He also co-wrote the class’s 2010 and 2011 editions of its textbook Export Odyssey. Steve negotiated five Carolina Consortium deals. He continued to chair BLINC: Business Librarianship in North Carolina, and coordinated four BLINC quarterly workshops (Raleigh, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Wilmington) as well as a special workshop on business collection development in Greensboro. Steve also collaborated with Jill Robinson of NC LIVE on promoting BLINC’s AskBLINC service, which provides business reference email support to North Carolina libraries, and created a new staffing model for the service. As the BLINC chair, he led the development of several formal “BLINC Recommendations to NC LIVE for 2012-2014”, evaluations requested by the NC LIVE executive director to aid NC LIVE in its database selection process.

Michael A. Crumpton
Much of Mike Crumpton’s time this year was dedicated to overseeing the renovation of the third floor of the main building and accompanying work required as detailed in his blog: http://jacksonlibrenovation.blogspot.com/ . This project will provide an environmentally controlled space that will allow the expansion of the University Libraries Special Collections and Archives collections, as well as upgrading building infrastructure. Mike also made numerous presentations throughout the year, including two keynote addresses for the North Carolina Learning Resources Association and the Library Management Institute. Mike, along with other senior administrators developed a staff repurposing program which provided precedence for adjusting human resource needs to better match trends and client needs. Mike writes a quarterly column for The Bottom Line: Managing Library Finances, and has been involved in conference planning for programs at ALA Annual Conference for LLAMA, the Entrepreneurial Conference for Librarians and the upcoming NCLA Bi-annual conference. He also has continued to teach, both at UNCG in the UNS program and for Central Carolina Community College’s LIS program as an adjunct instructor.

Jenny Dale

Jenny Dale has been First Year Instruction Coordinator at UNCG Libraries since January of 2010 and she is also liaison to the English Department and the Kinesiology Department. During the past year, she has led the Libraries in a substantial increase in first year classes for which the Libraries offer sessions, and she has personally taught a total of 170 sessions during the 2010-11 academic year. Jenny also taught a section of UNS 101 in the spring of 2011 and is currently co-teaching FFL 101 with Amy Harris. Jenny chaired the Game Night committee, a major outreach activity for students, for the Libraries during 2010-2011 and has also been involved in planning Family Game Night. Jenny has also increased contact with teaching assistants by leading workshops for them and has worked with such programs as Special Support Services and Strategies for Academic Success. Jenny has worked on several projects with the Instructional Technology Team, including updating the PATH research tutorial. Her University activities include the Strategic Plan Goal 3.3 Implementation Committee, including participation in an intensive summer workshop and attendant contributions to a campus Learning Communities Action Plan. She has also been a member of the Director of Learning Communities Search Committee. Jenny’s professional activities include ALA’s Library Instruction Round Table Web Advisory Committee and membership on the North Carolina Bibliographic Instruction Group Steering Committee. Jenny has delivered nine professional presentations during the past year on topics related to information literacy and embedded librarianship, including three on the national level. Jenny is also serving as a peer-reviewer for Communications in Information Literacy, an open-access scholarly journal and she is Layout Editor for the Journal of Learning Spaces, an open-access scholarly journal.

Stephen Dew

With Joe Williams, Stephen Dew authored a book chapter “Creating an Open-Access, Peer-Reviewed Journal: The Journal of Learning Spaces,” in The Entrepreneurial Librarian and gave presentations at two conferences—“Creating an Open Access Journal: A Case Study” at the Librarians’ Association at the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill (LAUNC-CH) Annual Conference, and “Creating an Open Access Journal: A Case Study” at The Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians. Stephen also gave a presentation via Skype to the Symposia Investigatio Bibliotheca Annual Conference at the Free University of Moldova, “NC DOCKS: The Institutional Repository for the University of North Carolina at Greensboro” and published a paper in the Proceedings. Stephen also gave a presentation with Mike Crumpton at the Charleston Conference, “Taking a Step Back, To Move Forward”, and he gave a presentation at the North Carolina Library Association, Resources & Technical Services Section Fall Workshop, “Open Journal Systems (OJS): An Open-Source Software for Publishing Electronic Journals, Newsletters, & Serials”. In addition, he gave a presentation to a UNCG Faculty Forum, “New Support for Faculty: Using Open Journal Systems (OJS) to Publish Electronic Journals, Newsletters, & Serials”. During the year, Stephen served as Chair of the Publications Committee of the Collection Management Section (CMS) of Association for Library Collections & Technical Services (ACRL) and among his duties as Chair, he led the section’s effort to create Collection Connection: The Collection Management & Development Blog, which was launched in March 2011, http://www.collectionconnection.alcts.ala.org/. In addition, Stephen served as a member of two other national committees—the Scholarly Communication Committee, Association of College & Research Libraries (ACRL) and the Publications Committee, Association for Library Collections & Technical Services (ACRL).
Sarah Dorsey
Sarah Dorsey attended and assisted with the Cowling Cello Celebration in March; helped establish and plant the Green Library Group garden plots in the new UNCG Gardens; created a new category of student employees (were called GLLAMS, now called Lead and Interns); established the Green Library Book Group with the Sustainability Office; conducted interviews and research for a book project: biography of composer Louise Talma.

William Finley
During the past academic year Bill Finley curated several exhibits in Hodges Special Collections & University Archives: “A Gentleman’s Library: The Classic Book Collection of Norman B. Smith” (October, 2010), “Bound to Please: The Custom Bindings of Don Etherington and Monique Lallier” (November, 2010), and “Lois Lenski: Voices of Children” (February, 2011). He helped organize presentations and receptions for the first two and wrote the text for catalogues for the Smith and Lenski exhibits. During the year Bill enhanced all major book collections in SCUA with purchases of relevant and significant titles. Included were first editions of Walden, The Scarlet Letter, The Pickwick Papers, The Mystery of Edwin Drood (rare parts issue), and The Newcomes (parts issue), to name but a few. Bill also purchased several significant additions to the Manuscripts Collection, including an original letter by Mark Twain, manuscript items by Katherine Anne Porter and John Burroughs, a World War I officer’s diary, a collection of letters relating to an early important Moravian school for girls, and a collection of twelve photograph albums compiled by a young woman in the early twentieth century. He also aided in acquiring several book and manuscript donations to UNCG. During the year he surveyed the holdings in Closed Stacks and selected books and journals to be transferred to SCUA. This year Bill acted as a co-supervisor of a graduate student’s project involving the analysis and interpretation of one of SCUA’s most prized volumes, a c. 1510 Book of Hours, a project that will result in a website and probably an article devoted to this particular volume. In May, 2011 Bill helped in the presentation of a reading of Randall Jarrell’s poetry at the Wellspring Center in Greensboro.

Christine Fischer
Christine Fischer was a panelist for “User-Centered Collection Development: Purchase On-Demand” at the Resources and Technical Services Section of the North Carolina Library Association’s 2010 Fall Workshop held at UNCG. She and Mary Jane Conger co-presented “Repurposing: New Activities for Established Staff” at the North Carolina Serials Conference in Chapel Hill. Included in the spring publication Middle Management in Academic and Public Libraries was the book chapter “Working Together: Public and Technical Services Perspectives,” which was co-authored by Fischer and Mary Krautter. Christine was chair of the University Archivist Search Committee and served as the 2010 chair of the Promotion and Tenure Attainment Recognition Committee which organizes an annual campus-wide event co-sponsored by the University Libraries and the Office of the Provost.

Keith Gorman
In completing his first year at University Libraries, Keith Gorman has devoted a great deal of his time to revising department policies and practices, preparing for the relocation of staff and collections to a new space, creating content and a new design for the department’s home page, establishing a service point in Hodges Reading Room, and developing a team approach to department operations and digital projects. He published “Making a Connection: Mentoring High School Students in Special Collections,” in Librarians as Mentors for Librarianship for Adults and Students. Gorman and Joe Williams co-wrote the article “Managing Change: A Reader’s Guide for Today’s Middle Manager,” in Managing in the Middle. He assisted in the writing and editing of two successful grant applications for digital projects (NC Lit Map and Runaway Slave Ads) funded by LSTA. Gorman also completed the Essential Supervisors Program offered by UNCG’s Human Resource Services.

Cathy Griffith
Cathy Griffith implemented two grants. The first, with Joe Williams, Head, Access Services, was an ASERL-HBCU Exchange Grant funded by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. This grant partnered the UNCG Libraries with Jacque Keleher from the Leonard S. Washington Memorial Library, Southern University in New Orleans.
Addressed were issues of policies, processes, and other issues necessary to transition an Access Services department located in post-Katrina trailers into a single service point in a newly renovated library. The second, with Mary Ann Graham, 24/5 Night Manager, Access Services, was a University Libraries Innovation and Program Enrichment Grant. Partnering with the University Writing Center and the University Libraries’ Reference and Instructional Services Department, writing consultant services and reference assistance were provided to UNCG students in Jackson Library during evening hours in the week prior to exams in the fall and spring terms.

David Gwynn
David Gwynn supervised eight new and five ongoing digital projects consisting of over 5,700 items and nearly 120,000 scanned pages, including the American Publishers Trade Bindings Collection, the Robert Hansen Performing Arts Collection (Phase Two), University Textiles and Artifacts, University Documents and Images, and the Women Veterans Historical Project. Additional projects coordinated with the Lyrasis mass digitization initiative included Alumni News, The Carolinian, Coraddi and State Normal Magazine, Greensboro City Directories, the Greensboro Patriot, and the World War I Pamphlet Collection. Two projects were completed in collaboration with the Greensboro Public Library and the Greensboro Historical Museum. In June, David secured a $40,376 NC ECHO grant to work with NC A&T State University on the North Carolina Runaway Slave Advertisements Project. David served on the Metadata Cataloger and University Archivist search committees, the Digital Projects Priorities Team, and the Student Supervisors Committee. He also served on a University committee to evaluate text transcription software for audiovisual projects and on the steering committee for a regional digital humanities initiative involving four area universities. Working with the Library and Information Studies Department, David was a guest lecturer for LIS 688 (Digital Libraries), supervised two student interns and several departmental employees, and represented the University Libraries in the LIS department’s Career Day programming. He co-authored a refereed article in LIBRES, contributed two articles each to Library Columns and The North Carolina Archivist. David maintained the Digital Projects blog and supervised its Facebook and flickr pages. In addition, he supervised the relocation of the Digital Projects unit in early 2011.

Amy Harris
Amy Harris actively serves on several university committees, including the Academic Integrity Advisory Committee and the Student Learning Enhancement Committee. For the Academic Integrity Advisory Committee, Amy led thirteen sessions for various classes and on-campus groups about Academic Integrity and avoiding plagiarism. For the Student Learning Enhancement Committee, Amy served on a team of two people that evaluated the assessment plans of twenty-five academic programs at UNCG. At the state level, Amy is currently serving as a member of three executive boards within the North Carolina Library Association. As Vice Chair/Chair-Elect of the Reference and Adult Services section, she has been involved in planning that section’s presentations for the biennial NCLA conference. She will participate in a panel presentation on e-readers at the conference in October. As the Co-Chair of the Bibliographic Instruction Group and a member of the Executive Board of the College and University Section, she worked with a committee that planned two workshops for teaching librarians this academic year. She also serves as a liaison to the American Library Association for the New Members’ Round Table of NCLA and as a member of the Executive Board of that group. Nationally, Amy continues to serve on the editorial board of the Multimedia Educational Resource for Learning and Online Teaching (MERLOT). She has peer-reviewed three online information literacy modules this year. Amy presented at eight conferences this year, including two presentations at the Lilly Conference on College and University Teaching. She has a co-authored peer-reviewed article and co-authored article in conference proceedings in press.

Gerald Holmes
Gerald Holmes served on the University’s Chief Diversity Officer/Associate Vice Chancellor Search Committee. He made one co-presentation to faculty on “Searching for Sponsors”, with Paul Tuttle from the Office of Sponsored Programs. He served on the Department of Library and Information Studies Advisory Committee. He also served on the Department of African American Studies Advisory Committee. As Diversity Coordinator, Gerald served as an Ex officio member of the Diversity Committee, Diversity Coordinator for the PostMLS Diversity Residency Librarian program, and served as a Co-Principal Investigator for the Academic and Cultural Enrichment (ACE) Scholars Program through a grant of $862,014 from the IMLS Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program (2008-2011). He also served as a Co-Principal Investigator for the Second Academic and Cultural Enrichment (ACE) Scholars Program through a grant of $889,401 from the IMLS Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program (2010-2013). On February 26, he participated in “Career Day” in the UNCG Department of Library and Information Studies. He was selected to attend the week-long 2011 Harvard University, Leadership Institute for Academic Librarians (forthcoming July 31-August 5). He co-presented the program, “Ten Libraries, One goal: Recruiting Future Librarians”, with Dr. Sha Li Zhang during the 2011 Annual Conference of the Librarians Association of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Lynda Kellam
Lynda Kellam gave a presentation on embedded data librarianship and chaired a session at the International Association for Social Science Information Service and Technology (IASSIST) Annual Conference in Vancouver, Canada. She also served on the planning committee for the conference as the poster session organizer. She and her colleague, Katharin Peter from the University of Southern California, published a book entitled Numeric Data Services and Sources for the General Reference Librarian. It was released in June 2011 by Chandos Publishing. She also co-authored a chapter with Kathryn Shields for the edited volume, The Generation X Librarian. She helped to coordinate a popular webinar series entitled “Help! I’m an Accidental Government Information Librarian” for the North Carolina Library Association’s Government Resources Section. She was active in the North Carolina Library Association’s Government Resources Section as the Vice-Chair/Chair-Elect, the American Library Association’s Government Documents Round Table as a member of the Education Committee, and the Association of College and Research Libraries Law and Political Science Section as a member of the Membership Committee.

Beth Ann Koelsch
Beth Ann Koelsch focused the resources of the Betty H. Carter Women Veterans Historical Project (WVHP) on expanding the oral history collections and coordinated the addition of 27 new oral histories to the WVHP. She organized, coordinated and publicized the annual Women Veterans Luncheon. Beth Ann curated exhibits for the University Libraries, the women veterans’ luncheon, and for university and community outreach events. She solicited UNCG faculty about integrating Special Collections and University Archives materials into their instruction and taught class sessions about primary source materials. She worked closely with the library development officer to enhance funding efforts for the WVHP. Beth Ann provided all on site and remote reference patron assistance for the WVHP. She contributed to general library educational outreach efforts via audio and video podcasting. She designed, submitted, moderated and presented the session “Preserving the History of Women Veterans, a Carolina Focus” for the Society of North Carolina Archivists Annual Meeting, Morehead City, North Carolina April 1, 2011. The session included a presentation about the history of the women who served in the various military branches in coastal North and South Carolina, as well as a panel discussion with Navy veteran Pat Childers, and oral historian Therese Ströhmer, that focused on outreach to veterans’ communities and their involvement with the genesis and growth of the WVHP as well as issues and challenges involved in interviewing women veterans. She was invited to co-present at the Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Museums Council in the session “Using Technology to Remember Those Who Served” at the Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Museums Council on March 21, 2010. The session was presented in conjunction with the Greensboro Historical Museum about using digitized images of materials on website to create “virtual square footage” and to highlight often unseen research and artifacts. She published the article “Discovering the Contributions of Women Veterans: The Betty H. Carter Women Veterans Historical Project at the University of North Carolina Greensboro” in North Carolina Libraries. She served on the Steering Committee for the Oral History Section of Society of American Archivists and is a member at large of the Society of North Carolina Archivists. As a member of the University’s Intercollegiate Athletics Committee she worked on the University’s NCAA Division I certification review as a member of the Subcommittee on Gender/Diversity Issues and Student-Athlete Well Being. She also serves as chair of the
Mary Krautter
Mary Krautter served on the Planning Committee for the conference Reference Renaissance 2010: Inventing the Future held in Denver, Colorado in August 2010. She delivered a presentation for this conference entitled “Addicted to Print: Overcoming Book Lust in the Reference Collection.” A chapter based on this presentation was accepted and is scheduled to be published in the conference proceedings edited by Dr. Marie Radford and due to be released in late 2011. Mary also presented at the Kentucky Library Association in September 2010 on a similar topic “Addicted to Print: Transitioning Reference Collections into the Digital Age.” In October 2010, she delivered a presentation titled: “Is Print Dead? Balancing Resources in the Reference Collection” in Raleigh, NC, to the Reference and Adult Services Section of the North Carolina Library Association. Mary is currently collaborating with Wake Forest University librarians Mary Beth Lock and Mary Scanlon in editing a book to be entitled The Entrepreneurial Librarian under contract with McFarland Publishing. Mary also served as a member of the Planning Committee for the second conference: From Vision to Implementation: An Entrepreneurial Conference for Librarians, held at Wake Forest University in March 2011. Mary and Mike Crumpton presented on “Learning Spaces: Enhancing the Library’s Image” at the annual conference of the Academic and Special Sections of the Kentucky Library Association in April 2011. Mary and Christine Fischer wrote a chapter “Working Together: Public and Technical Services Perspectives” for an edited book Middle Management in Academic and Public Libraries, which was published by Libraries Unlimited in May of 2011. Mary is Treasurer of the North Carolina Chapter of Special Libraries Association and also serves as a member of the Executive Board of the Chapter. Mary also continued to serve as an ex-officio member of UNCG’s General Education Council, and participated in a two day general education assessment workshop in June 2011, developing plans to conduct assessment of particular components of UNCG’s General Education Program. Mary is also a Board Member and Programming Committee Member for Bookmarks Book Festival, Triad area book festival.

Lea Leininger
In 2010-2011, Lea Leininger was invited to contribute to a panel presentation titled “Three Perspectives on Patron Driven Acquisitions: Local, Consortial and Publisher” at the annual Charleston Conference. Lea’s presentation described the University Libraries approach to patron driven acquisitions, an e-book buying model that allows patrons to find and read e-books for free, with purchase of an e-book only occurring after several uses. Lea also added the Joint School of Nanoscience and Nanoengineering to the list of academic units for which she provides liaison services (other units include School of Nursing, Department of Biology, Department of Public Health Education, Department of Nutrition, Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, and the Genetic Counseling Program). Lea expanded her instruction to include online sessions in Elluminate. During the 2010-2011 academic year, she provided a total of 61 workshops to 1,152 students. Lea also served on several University Libraries committees. She contributed to Collection Management Committee projects to reduce collection spending and reduce the footprint of the print collection. She helped the Systems Advisory Committee respond to critical issues with the library catalog and discuss the future of this system. Lea also served on an E-Book Task Force. This group surveyed e-book use and interest among 7,454 UNCG students, then made recommendations to library administration on matters such as improving library support for e-books.

Kimberly Lutz
At the beginning of the 2010/2011 academic year, Kimberly Lutz started a new libraries initiative to honor recent faculty publications. The initiative includes a blog, an ongoing display of faculty books, and an annual reception. In the first year, the program was well-received and highlighted the publication of more than 40 books. Working with Bill Finley, Kimberly organized a Randall Jarrell program at Wellspring, highlighting the strengths of SCUA to an audience of potential donors. She also coordinated a panel on gardening to highlight the libraries’ collections in this area and also to show how the libraries’ resources, such as LibGuides, support campus initiatives. In February, Kimberly organized a sold-out event in Washington, DC for the Society for Scholarly Publishing. The Librarians’ Roundtable brought six librarians from across the country together with a room filled with publishers and vendors to foster open communication and look for common ground. Her write up of the event was published in Against the Grain. For the Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians, Kimberly organized and moderated a webinar that attracted librarians from around the country and helped to publicize the second conference. She gave a presentation at the Carolina Consortium’s annual meeting on the impact of cancelling resources, and organized the meeting’s first ever vendor showcase. For the consortium, she also worked on a cost-per-use analysis and created a savings spreadsheet to demonstrate the savings each member realizes through the consortium.

Franklin McKee
Franklin McKee constructed the framework for a highly functional library intranet using SharePoint and began the process of migrating library data from multiple sites. As part of this process Franklin met with representatives from each department in the Libraries to develop customized sites for each department and to provide training. Franklin also developed new procedures for tracking consumable supplies and hardware that is loaned from ERIT. Franklin continued his work with Brown Biggers to virtualize the Libraries’ server environment. As a result of this work 45 percent of the Libraries’ servers are now virtualized and plans have been developed to virtualize additional servers, including the Libraries’ primary web server. Franklin has developed a number of plans for upgrading key server systems including the upgrade of all of the Libraries SQL servers to SQL 2008 and MDID2 to MDID3. Plans were also developed for migrating the Libraries’ workstations to the Campus Active Directory and General Computing Network (AD/GCN). Planning for the AD/GCN included working closely with Campus Information Technology Services to resolve issues with numerous pieces of library specific software. Franklin also worked closely with Campus Information Technology Services to insure a smooth migration of all Libraries employee e-mail accounts from Lotus Notes to iSpartan (Gmail). Franklin worked closely with Joe Williams and Brown Biggers to create and implement a program for circulating iPads to library patrons. Franklin also worked with several groups to develop plans to increase the number of public workstations in the Libraries. Franklin upgraded ILL’s ILLiad server and client workstations to ILLiad 8 and worked with Joe Williams to customize ILLiad for use in the Libraries Faculty/Staff Desktop Delivery program and Purchase on Demand program.

Barry Miller
Barry Miller organized special appearances at UNCG by famed recording artist and children’s book author Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul and Mary, storyteller and author Tim Tingle, independent scholar Tom Magnuson (supported by a grant he obtained from the NC Humanities Council), and authors Randall Kenan and Brent Friedlander. He published a chapter entitled “Establishing the Library in the Cultural Fabric of the Community: Ten Tips for Linking the Library to the World” in the forthcoming book, Marketing Methods for Libraries. Barry also served on the UNCG’s Integrated Marketing Committee, where he created, and is currently co-chairing a subcommittee of the Committee of Content Creators looking at electronic magazines, newsletters, and the use of social media, trying to set up some templates and standards for university-wide use.

Daniel Nanez
Danny Nanez was responsible for creating a great leap for learning new technologies. Using newly acquired knowledge of Microsoft SQL Integration Services, NCDOCKS now tracks the amount of uses each document receives. This new feature is completely automated. Learning new techniques in agile data development, this year saw major additions to the mobile library web site. The site now includes information on hours and available computers in the library. Students can also use the mobile site to make library collaboratory reservations.
Mac Nelson
At the national level, Mac Nelson continued to be active in the Music Library Association (MLA) and the Music OCLC Users Group (MOUG). For the MLA, he was invited to serve as national Co-Coordinator of the Educational Outreach Program and as Chair of the Education Committee’s Task Force on Curriculum Design for Videorecordings Cataloging Workshops. Also for the MLA, Mac was appointed to a three-year term on the Carol J. Bradley Award Committee and continued to serve as Member’s Publications column editor and as a member of the Education Committee. For MOUG, Mac served a third year on the Program Committee and published a review in the MOUG Newsletter of a plenary session at the 2011 Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. At the regional level, Mac was co-presenter of two workshops, “Cataloging Sound Recordings” and “Cataloging Video Recordings,” at the Annual Meeting of the Southeast Chapter of the Music Library Association (SEMLA) in Columbia, South Carolina. He also served as a member of the Best of Chapters Selection Committee for SEMLA. At UNCG, Mac continued cataloging materials from the Cello Music Collection housed in the Special Collections Department of the University Libraries. These included scores, manuscripts, sound recordings, and books from the Laszlo Varga Collection and the Bernard Greenhouse Collection. He also collaborated with videographer Joanna Hay to record more than nine hours of video oral history interviews with the legendary cellist and Cello Music Collection donor Laszlo Varga. Additionally, Mac served as Secretary of the Library Faculty and as a member of the Innovation and Program Enrichment Grant Awards Review Committee. He remained actively involved in library education as guest lecturer in the Library and Information Studies Department, where he taught (with Cataloging Department Head Mary Jane Conger) the subjects of bibliographic description, Library of Congress Classification, and MARC record design. In addition to membership on the University’s Advisory Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics (ACIA) and Faculty Enrollment Management Committee (FEMC), Mac served as Past President of the UNCG Library and Information Studies Alumni Association.

Nancy Ryckman
Nancy Ryckman is chair of the University’s Writing Intensive Committee and in that role has reviewed numerous WI course proposals and worked with faculty to upgrade the quality of their writing assignments. She is a member of the Teaching Resources Center Advisory Committee and the Faculty Grievance Committee as well as the Liaison to the Writing and Speaking Centers. She is the Library Liaison for ten academic departments or programs for whom she has created and/or maintained almost 50 subject-specific web pages highlighting pertinent research resources. She has assisted several of the Library and Information Studies graduate students and library staff members with resume, cover letter, and interview preparation and co-presented an online resume and cover letter workshop for them. She is the official mentor for two librarians but has been advising others on portfolio preparation and curriculum vitae style and content. She has been coordinating the ongoing process of reviewing missing and lost books to determine whether to withdraw or replace them. She has participated in several projects dealing with furniture selection and location including the new Reference desk and Reference computer furniture. She reviews potential new reference books for Sage. She serves as chair of the Library Faculty and chair of the University Libraries Undergraduate Research Award Committee. She is a member of the Peer Evaluation and Tenure Committee which has included being one of the lead writers for the Libraries’ governing documents. She is a member of the Collection Management Committee, Library Elections Committee, Space Planning Committee, Planning Team for Hosting International Visiting Scholars and Librarians, Service Assessment Team, and Art Committee.

Mark Schumacher
Mark Schumacher's major achievement this year was, perhaps, to coordinate the Summer SOAR orientation to the library in June 2011. In three weeks of tours, he and his colleagues spoke to 677 persons about the wonders of the library. He migrated his widely-known web site on Amy Sacker to a new system, at www.amysacker.net. He served on the team that prepared UNCG’s decennial re-certification for the NCAA. Serving a wider public, he also proctored approximately 210 exams for distance education students from East Carolina and numerous other
Hermann Trojanowski

Hermann Trojanowski was a guest lecturer for nine University Studies (UNS) classes and one Teaching Fellows Seminar (TED 198) class. He was a guest co-lecturer for an Architectural Conservation (HIST 548) class, Archival Management (LIS 505) class, Ethnic American Literature (RCO-208) class, Institutional History of Composition Studies (ENG 689) class, and a Student Teaching Seminar in Physical Education (KIN 461 & KIN 462) class as well as four History and Philosophy of Sports and Physical Education (KIN 351) classes and six University Studies (UNS) classes. There were 519 students in the above classes. Hermann gave presentations about the history of the University at the August 2010 UNCG New Faculty Orientation and a UNCG Development event in April 2011 for potential donors. To promote the outreach efforts of the University Libraries, he led historic campus tours for eleven groups of alumni, students, and visitors with thirty participants. In addition, he gave tours of the Hodges Special Collections and University Archives Department for five groups of visitors with eleven participants. Hermann curated four exhibits and co-curator two exhibits covering such topics as Charles Duncan McIver, gifts to the University Libraries, history of UNCG, May Day, men’s athletics at UNCG, and nursing at UNCG. He also published “The Building of Jackson Library, 1948-1950” in Library Columns and wrote one book review of The Ethical Archivist for the Journal for the Society of North Carolina Archivists. He also posted three blogs on Charles Duncan McIver, men’s athletics at UNCG, and promoting archival material. Hermann conducted four oral history interviews for the UNCG Institutional Memory Collection and one interview for the Betty H. Carter Women Veterans Historical Project. He coordinated the transcript editing, writing of biographical sketches and abstracts as well as the digitization of forty-one interviews for the UNCG Centennial Oral History Project. In addition, Hermann supervised the oral history interviewer and coordinated six oral history interviews for the African American Institutional Memory Project. He served on four University Libraries Committees as well as the University Faculty Professional Development & Welfare Committee and the University Residence Hall Naming Ad Hoc Committee.

LaTesha Velez

LaTesha Velez led a journal weeding project at the Music Library. She also processed the archival records for the Department of Mathematics and Statistics and created the online finding aid for those records. She created several LibGuides including one on bullying that was shared with other University units, received compliments from the Provost among others, and was noted as being a heavily-used resource. LaTesha, along with Kathy Bradshaw, led a workshop during the Central Piedmont Community College Library 2011 ShareAcademy and has been selected to give both a panel presentation and poster session during the 2011 NCLA Conference. She assisted in planning and facilitating the 2011 Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians sponsored by the libraries of Wake Forest University and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and the 2010 Information, Diversity, Engagement, Access and Libraries (iDEAL) Summit sponsored by the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, Department of Library and Information Studies. During the summer of 2011 she completed two training programs sponsored by the Human Resources Department: the Supervisory/Management Program and the Diversity Program. LaTesha was also awarded a Reach21 Scholarship in June 2011 which paid for travel, registration, and a three night stay in New Orleans, LA to attend the 2011 ALA Annual Conference where she also attended the Spectrum Leadership Institute and an ACRL 2011 Librarian Scholarship which is given to new librarians and paid for registration to the ACRL 2011 Conference in Philadelphia, PA and provided a $250 stipend.

Beth Filar Williams

In 2010-2011 academic year, Beth Filar Williams organized and often co-presented over three dozen online workshops and orientations for UNCG including a “Resume and Cover Lettering Writing”, “Intro to Creative Commons”, and “Googlicious”. She also hosted meetings and webinars nationally through her role co-chairing the ACRL Technology in University Libraries Committee. Along with Jenny Dale, she received a grant from Teaching and Learning Center and created a Brief Hybrid Workshop – “Embedding Information Literacy in Online Teaching”.

schools around the country.
During the summer 2010, Beth was awarded the Library Innovation Grant and that academic year awarded a GA position for Teach Library Project. These awards assisted with the creation of the Instructional Tech Toolkit. As project manager, a yearlong group project creating a ten module research tutorial called Path was completed. She is also working with the ERIT Development Team to populate a tutorial database to push tutorials into appropriate pages through the “Not Finding it?” drop down widget. At the ACRL National Conference Beth was panelist for two distance education related presentation, co-presented with Jenny Dale on online learning at the UNCG CAUSE Conference, presented virtually on “Embedding Green Messages” for the Amigos Library Services’ Going Green @ your Library 2 Virtual Conference, and presented at the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education Conference on creating virtual conferences. Beth also wrote book chapter to be published in Greening Libraries 2011/12 by Library Juice Press.

Joe Williams

Joe Williams coordinated and hosted the 2011 NC ILL Users Group Annual Meeting on UNCG campus, and helped plan and host the NC Sirsi-Dynix Users Group Annual Meeting as that Group’s President-elect. He served on the ACRL Media Resources Task Force, which revised the ACRL Guidelines for Media Resources in Academic Libraries. He also initiated the Journal of Learning Spaces publication, a peer reviewed, open-access journal hosted by the University Libraries, which currently has advisory board, editorial board, and peer review board members from UNCG and numerous other colleges, universities, and organizations across the U.S. The Journal will publish its inaugural issue in September 2011. Williams presented on this journal project at both the 2011 Librarians Association of UNC Chapel Hill conference and the 2011 Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians. Joe co-authored an ALA Press book chapter with Keith Gorman, Assistant Head of Special Collections and University Archives on recommended readings for middle managers (in press). He also co-authored a chapter with Stephen Dew, Collections and Scholarly Resources Coordinator for the Entrepreneurial Librarian book (in review). In June 2010, Williams was one of 22 participants selected nationally to attend the 2011 Frye Leadership Institute hosted by Educause, Emory University, and the Council on Library and Information Resources.

Sha Li Zhang

Sha Li Zhang has served on the UNCG’s Textbook Advisory Committee, Faculty Senate Budget Committee, and International Students and Scholar Services (ISSS) Committee in 2010-2011. She serves as Project Director/Principal Investigator of the UNCG Academic and Cultural Enrichment (ACE) Scholars Program through the grants of $860,000 funded in 2008 and $889,401 funded in 2010 from IMLS Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program respectively. In addition to being a member on the Libraries’ AAG, SAC, and chairing CMC, Sha Li chaired the Planning Team for the Visiting Librarians and co-chaired the Planning Team for hosting the SUFE delegation. On professional committees within American Library Association (ALA), Sha Li serves as Chair of ALA’s International Relations Committee (IRC) for 2010-2012, appointed by the ALA president. IRC is responsible for ALA’s international relations programs and initiatives. Sha Li was immediate past chair of the ALA’s International Relations Round Table (IRRT) in 2010-2011; a member on the ALA Nominating Committee, 2010-2012 which is responsible for nominating the viable candidates to run for the ALA Vice President/President-Elect position and ALA councilors in the ALA’s 2012 election, and a member on the ALA Advocacy Coordinating Group, 2010-2012. On a global scale, Sha Li serves on the IFLA’s Section Standing Committee on Acquisition and Collection Development and on the North American Organizing Committee which co-hosted China – North American Library Conference in Beijing, China in September 2010. Sha Li continues her services on the Editorial Board on Chinese Librarianship: an International Electronic Journal, on the IGI Global Library Advisory Board, and on the Think Globally Act Globally Project Steering Committee which carries out library exchanges projects funded by IMLS and by the Ministry of Cultures in China. Sha Li is the co-author (with Loriene Roy) on the peer-reviewed papers, “Recruiting Future Librarians from Diverse Backgrounds: Model Projects in the United States,” in Journal of Library and Information Science, and “Collaborative Projects to Recruit Future Librarians from Diverse Backgrounds,” in Proceedings: Libraries in a Multicultural Society: Possibilities for the Future. Her other publications include “Message from IRC Chair,” in International Leads and “IFLA 2010 Annual Conference Report,” in ALCTS Newsletter.
Staff Service Award for 2011

Recognition:
- Cindy Zaruba was presented the 2011 Staff Service Award. Cindy was extolled by her colleagues as a truly gifted problem solver—efficient, hardworking, and productive. She is known for solving workflow problems with an eye on how a patron would approach searching and how decisions will influence the work flow between departments. Within the Cataloging Department, Cindy leads by example, calling little attention to her accomplishments. She often volunteers for anything that needs doing, tackling complex projects with skill, diligence, and cheer. She is known for her balanced perspective and dry sardonic humor. Having worked in five different positions with in her nearly thirty years with the Libraries, Cindy is also respected for her wise counsel and historical memory of the library. Cindy is also a respected leader and teacher, having spent much time training student assistants, library faculty and staff, visiting librarians, and various practicum students and interns. To quote a co-worker, “I can’t imagine successfully completing many of the projects she has participated in if it weren’t for her valuable insights and suggestions and speedy completion of tasks. Perhaps this is because she specializes in the organizing and processing of anomalies and exceptions.” During the past year, in addition to her regular multi-format work, Cindy assumed responsibility for cataloging circulating scores and books for the Music Library and provided the foundational work and workflow model by which about 5,000 DVDs were transferred to the Jackson Library collection where they are now enjoyed by our patrons. The University Libraries Staff Service Award was established in 1997 upon the retirement of Martha Ransley, former Head of the Circulation Department and Friends of the UNCG Libraries Board member, “to recognize and reward members of the SPA Library Staff who provide outstanding leadership and service in furthering the accomplishment of the mission of the Library to provide service to students, faculty, staff and members of the community which the University serves.”

Student Worker of the Year Award for 2011

Recognition:
- Dana Boyle, Music Library was selected as this year’s winner. The criteria and justifications are:

  Reliability: “I can always count on her work being done well and never worry if she has been in charge...She is the personification of reliability.” Responsibility: “Dana is a dream employee. Not only does she do what is asked of her, but she thinks of things you are going to ask her to do and then goes on to cine up with things you might never think of.” Conscientiousness: Dana went above and beyond the call of duty by finding the syllabus for a course with a “tardy” professor and creating a reserve list on her own. “If she sees that (something) needs to be done, she just does it.” Commitment to Service and Teamwork: Dana handles the potentially awkward situation of being the supervisor of her peers by communicating when needed but never abusing the power nor overstepping her bounds. She also helped to refine the score inventory and has shown initiative by taking over contacts with professors about reserves. And she does it all while being fully engaged in classes and performances within the School of Music. “I’m not even sure that she is aware of her value to us.” “She is so professional I could easily forget that she is not a permanent employee.” “She brightens the day when she’s here.” “Her work is always impeccable. She inspires me to do my job better. She definitely makes sure that library patrons of all sorts get the help that they need.”

(i) Last FY one time addition 6,678 titles as part of the ICPSR
(ii) Titles in NC LIVE databases
(iii) Independent Free titles. Last FY value over-reported
(iv) Collections counted in this metric: "Slavery" (DLAS), "Women Veterans Collection", "Civil Rights Greensboro", "University Archives", "Special Collections & Rare Books", "Web Exhibits", and the Institutional Repository
Conversion to industry standard analytics on these collections reflects lower, but more accurate metrics.
(v) Two projects involved existing collections which is why only 7 collections were added.
(vi) Includes both Manuscripts and Women Veterans Historical Project material.
(vii) This item count is expected to stay relatively static
