INTERVIEW AGREEMENT

The UNCG Institutional Memory Collection is an oral history project of the Martha Blakeney Special Collections and University Archives at The University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNCG). Recordings and transcripts resulting from interviews conducted for the Collection are deposited in the Martha Blakeney Hodges Special Collections and University Archives at UNCG. They may be made available for historical and other academic research and public dissemination online, in our reading room, and in other venues deemed appropriate, regulated according to any written restrictions placed on their use by the Interviewee and/or Interviewer. Participation in the project is entirely voluntary.

Interviewee will have 30 days from the date of postmark to review and request edits to the audio recording and index provided. If no requests are made within 30 days, the recording shall be considered approved, complete, and available for research.

We, the undersigned Interviewer and Interviewee, have read the above and hereby grant The University of North Carolina at Greensboro a perpetual nonexclusive license for full use of the information contained on recordings and in transcripts of the interview(s) identified below – including, but not limited to, academic publication, exhibit display, and distribution online. We waive any claim to privacy in the information contained within the recordings and transcripts.
