Jackson Library Renovation
Guiding Principles

- Create a welcoming and inclusive library environment that reflects the inspiring diversity of the UNC Greensboro community and fosters a sense of ownership and belonging.

- Leverage space and technology to foster innovation, promote interdisciplinary collaboration, and empower students of all academic levels to reach their highest potential.
Guiding Principles

- Provide a collection of library partners that collaboratively establishes student success criteria and provides the tools for students to succeed.

- Provide strong and diverse collections that support the teaching, research, and learning needs of the institution.
Guiding Principles

- Develop an integrated services library model that establishes the Jackson Library as the heart of campus and serves as a retention/recruitment vehicle for students and faculty.

- Leverage the library to deepen the connection with the community.

During Construction
Jackson Library During Construction

- The construction will take place in 2 phases, the tower and the main building.
- Library personnel are actively working on alternative approaches to resources and spaces during each phase.
  - For example, additional off-site storage has been obtained to shift materials around on campus, any materials removed will be returned when that phase is completed.
- More to come on services later in the year.
