

BORROWING PRINT BOOKS FROM JACKSON LIBRARY/HSML/ILL

The majority of the print collection from Jackson will be unavailable from January 2025-summer 2026. Books that are returned during this time will be available for checkout, as will books in our on-campus remote storage facility. Both can be requested through the library catalog. UNCG students, faculty, and staff can request print items through Interlibrary Loan throughout the renovation. Book borrowing from the Harold Schiffman Music Library will stay the same.

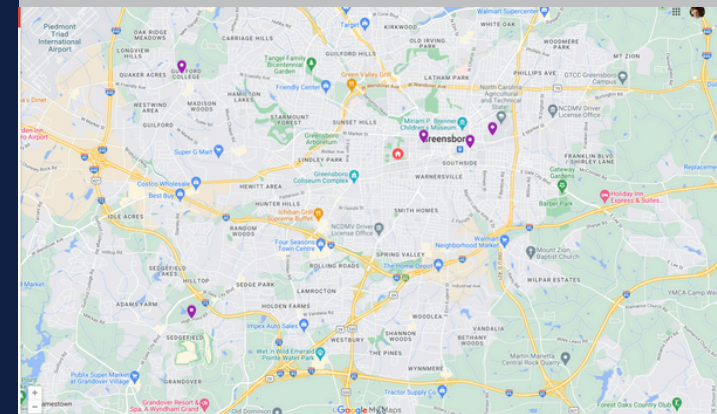

HOW TO BORROW BOOKS

During the Jackson
Library
Renovation

BORROWING FROM OTHER ACADEMIC LIBRARIES

UNCG students, faculty, and staff can borrow print books directly at other colleges and universities in the Piedmont Triad and any school in the UNC System. Each institution has different rules about borrowing, so please check with each school before you visit. You will need your Spartan Card to register to borrow. For details visit <https://go.uncg.edu/otherlibraries/>. For assistance searching the catalogs of other libraries chat with a UNCG librarian at <https://go.uncg.edu/chat>

USING THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

UNCG students, faculty, and staff who live in Guilford County or surrounding counties can also obtain a Greensboro Public Library card, which enables you to check out books at any branch library and access their online resources. More information is available at <https://go.uncg.edu/gplcards> or visit your local public library.

EBOOKS

UNCG University Libraries has over one million ebooks that are accessible to any UNCG student, faculty, or staff. You can limit search results to ebooks only in our online catalog by doing a search for your topic, then using the filters on the left side of the page.
